GRIEVANCE/ARBITRATION COMMITTEE UPDATE

Tuition Benefits: The Association was contacted by several Faculty members regarding fees that either they or their spouse are being charged for courses being taken at KSU. The CBA states that the general and instructional fees are waived for eligible faculty members' spouses (and University Policy contains similar language with regard to faculty members themselves). However, the instructional fees of Faculty and spouses of Faculty in specific programs, for which the Board of Trustees approved a tuition rate higher than the basic in-state tuition, are only reimbursed up to the amount of the basic in-state tuition rate. On March 17, 2016, an informal resolution meeting was held. Subsequent to the meeting, the University notified the Association that the specific cases that the Association is knowledgeable of, have been fixed with the Faculty member and/or spouse being reimbursed the full amount. UPDATE: Despite the administration's claims that affected Faculty members have been reimbursed, it is clear that has not occurred. Additionally, AAUP-KSU requested information in order to determine if any other Faculty member or his/her dependent has been affected and the administration has not provided the data (even though AAUP-KSU requested information without identifying factors in accordance with FERPA). Because of the administration's unwillingness to reimburse the affected Faculty members and provide information to ensure the CBA language is being properly implemented, the TT Unit of AAUP-KSU filed for arbitration. The parties have selected the arbiters and are currently working to find mutually-agreeable dates in which to hold the arbitration hearing. As a reminder, the FTNTT unit has a contractual clause that will provide the same remedy to the FTNTT unit as the TT Unit in the result of an arbitration decision.

If you have an issue, question, or concern regarding any provision of the CBA, please contact AAUP-KSU as soon as possible.
